I'm Pedro Regis, a design student with a passion for exploring creativity to solve challenges. At the age of 21, I'm in my 6th semester of Product Design at the Federal University of Santa Catarina (UFSC), where I'm diving deep into the art of transforming ideas into tangible reality. Originally from São Paulo, the search for evolution brought me to Florianópolis, a city where I have put down roots while seeking to improve my design skills and knowledge.

SUMMARY

With interests in areas such as UX/UI Design, Graphic Design and Motion Design, I seek to expand my professional reach in challenging environments. I am a committed problem solver, able to find creative solutions to complex challenges through proactive and creative approaches coupled with excellent task self-management has enabled me to contribute significantly to graphic design projects throughout my professional career.

Easy interpersonal skills have been a key factor in collaborating effectively as part of a team, ensuring the delivery of high-quality projects. I am now looking to expand my responsibilities and contribute to more challenging projects that exploit my passion and experience in the areas mentioned.
